LETTER FROM THE DIRECTOR

Dear Valued Customers

Seventeen years ago, Oasis began a small manufacturing department with very humble beginnings. From handbags and gunbags to carpets and keyrings, what started as a simple idea has grown into something truly special.

Our very first design — the iconic Knot Bag — paved the way for so many beautiful creations that followed. Behind every piece is our prestigious and incredibly talented manufacturing team. Their dedication, craftsmanship, and passion continue to inspire me daily.

Through my travels and the privilege of working with such amazing people from diverse cultures and nationalities, I've had a treasure trove of creativity to draw from. Working with a variety of remarkable animal species has made this journey even more meaningful.

Above all, I give thanks to my Heavenly Father, the Creator of all, who has blessed me with the opportunity to do what I truly love.

— Debbie Hoffman

Please Note:

- No custom bags will be made on request.

PURPOSE OF CURING

Bacteria begins to destroy the hair roots immediately after the animal has died causing hair slip and further damage to the skin. It is important to begin the curing process immediately to avoid disappointment.

Method

Skin the animal as soon as possible, try to work in a cool/shaded area. Remove all excess fat, blood & meat from skin. Wash off all blood & dirt. If Possible, soak skin for a minimum of 1 hour up to 6 hours in a saturated salt solution together with a bactericide (Dettol) = (about 20 kg of salt & 100ml of Dettol per 100 litres of cold water). As you remove the skin from the solution, open and flatten the skin on a clean salted surface (with good drainage) with the flesh side facing up. Cover the skin completely with salt.

Hints

You will need at least the same amount of salt as to the weight of the skin. The skin must then lie in salt for at least three days (up to 2 weeks for very large game) after which time, the skin should be removed from the salt and dried out. There is nothing wrong with drying the skin in the sun after removing from the salt. The sooner the skin is dried the better. If you do not have time to do this then pack the skin with salt, roll it up and refrigerate if possible and dry it out at destination asap.

Do Not:

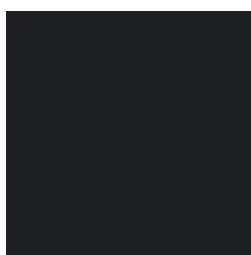

- Do not drag the animal or leave it in the sun after it has been shot.
- Do not salt a skin that has already started to dry out, rather soak in a strong salt solution overnight & then salt skin.
- Do not leave blood, fat or flesh on the skin (salt does not penetrate fat).
- Do not store in a plastic bag, except for transportation in a cooler container.

The Exception

Do not remove all the fat off of an ostrich skin, this will damage the membrane layer of the quill area exposing the feather roots, resulting in a skin that looks like a sieve. Remove the worst of the fat, leave a thin layer in the centre, wash well and salt well. refrigerate if possible until getting it to the tannery.
